The Dead Anarchists.

CHICAGO, November 12 .- About 5,000 people viewed the remains of the Anarchists, Parsons and Fischer, in the undertaker's shop this morning. The remains were removed to the residences of the deceased about 10 o'clock. There was no excitement over the transfer. The bodies of Spies and Engler were removed last evening.

It looks very much this morning as if the city authorities would refuse to allow the friends of the executed Anarallow the friends of the executed Anarchists to carry out their programme respecting their funerals, which are set for to-morrow. It has been learned from most reliable sources that Mayor Roche, Chief of Police Ebersold, In spector Bonfield and Commissoner of Public Works Swift have had a long conference respecting what they would, or would not allow. The chief and mayor are both against letting crowds line the streets through which the cortege proposes passing, and it may be decided that the burial of the reds will have to be made separately.

An incident occurred this morning which shows the temper of the lanabiding people of the city. Spies was a member of Aurora Turn Verein; some Socialistic members of the organization placed the American flag at half mast Socialistic members of the organization placed the American flag at half mast on Aurora Turn Hall. It had not been there long before the owners of the building ordered the flag taken down, and it was done.

It is strongly hinted that the authorities of Waldheim Cemetery, it e one in which it was proposed to bury the reds, and over their graves erect a monu-

Schwab brought down a stool and conversed with his wife and mother for nearly two hours separated by iron bars and wire netting. Mrs. Schwab was clad in mourning in memory perhaps of the previous day's events. Before partink Schwab fondly kissed his children many times and houged them and returned to his cell. Mrs. Schwab left weeping. At 10 o'clock Mrs. Fielden came in with a baby in her arms, and accompanied by her little girl and a neighbor. Mrs. Fielden cried a great doa' while talking with her husband. About 11 45 the men parted with their wives, and ware then taken into the jail office, where J. A. CHICAGO, November 12—At 10 o'clock this morning the casket containing the body of Fischer was taken to the home of his wife. Around the house was a great crowd of women and children. Mrs. Fischer was at the house of one of the neighbors when the body of her husband arrived. But as soon as it was carried into the house she was escorted there by two female friends. She was suffering greatly and her actions were somewhat hysterical. her actions were somewhat hysterical. She stopped occasionally and threw her arms around one or another of her friends and wept bitterly. The doors and windows of Chris Spies' house, where the body of the dead Anarchist lies, were barred and would not be opened for anyone. Long strips of white and black crape swung from the door bell. At the top of the symbols of mourning was a large black rosette, also made of crape, from the middle of which streamers of from the middle of which streamers of red ribbon fluttered. From the mo-ment the dead body arrived the house has been surrounded by a crowd of in-quisitive spectators, who were anxious to get a look at the dead man's face. Nobody was gratified. As soon as Mrs. Parsons had recovered, sufficiently to walk she ran again to her dead, crying and calling his name. Again she fainted before her lips touched the face of her husband. This time friends carried her away, and would not let her see the corpse again. At the howe of Engel there has been a solemn throng passing in and outsince morning. In the back room lay the bodies of Lingg and En-gel. The haggard face of Mrs. Engel as she passed through the room fre-quently, was pitiful.

ENGEL AND LINGG'S CORPSES.

The bodies of Engel and Lingg were in their coffins and no one was permit ted to take more than one look as he passed along. That portion passed along. That portion of Lingg's face which was shattered by the fulminating cap, had been filled up with chemicals, and plaster of paris. A bandage hid the wound from gaze, Otherwise, the face was well preserved. In the frown of the brow there was a trace of the awful determination which must have nerved the bomb-

The question of the primary disposal of the dead Anarchists was settled this afternoon. They will be taken to Waldheim Cemetery, and placed in a vault for the time being. The committee so represented to the directors of the cemetery and that the vault in Waldheim being lately constructed.

FUNERAL ARRANGEMENTS.

CHICAGO, November 12.-Without banners, without speeches, with no music save the dirges, the blackening, repulsive remains of the five Haymar-ket murderers, who perished by rope and bomb, will to-morrow be borne to the lonely tomb, ten miles from the city of their fearful crime and death. Mayor Roche, to day, sent for the committee of arrangements for the funeral of the men executed on Friday, and had a long interview with them. Ordinarily, no permit is required for the funeral, but owing to the circumstances of this case, the mayor deemed it best for the city to assume a general oversight of the whole aff ir. The committee itself requested that sufficient police should be around to clear the way and preserve order, and readily acquiesced in all the suggestions made by the mayor. As a result of the conference, the following application was made:

The doors of the undertaking establishment to where the dead bodies of the Anarchists were taken after execution were thrown open this morning from 6 to 9 30 to enable the crowd which had gathered for the purpose to view the semans. Only the bodies of Parsons and Fischer were there, the others having been removed. Between 1,000 and 5,000 people viewed the remains.

The mayor hopes and presumes that this funeral will proceed as quietly and orderly as all other funerals are accustomed to do. At the same time, he says, careful and thorough preparations have been made for the quelling of any possible disturbance.

NORTH ADAMS, Mass., November 12 .-The Anarchists will hold a meeting tomorrow during the hours of the funeral at Chicago. If they attempt to fly the American flag at half mast there will probably be bloodshed. The police are watching them and will have the assist-ance of the officers from Pittsfield if necessary.

IN NEW YORK.

New York, November 12.—Informa-tion was received by the superintendent of police, to-day, that a body of Anar-chists had rented a hall for the purpose of holding a wake to-night in memory of the dead Anarchists. A squad of picked men was sent to the hall with instructions to prevent the meeting if possible. The proprietor was asked in possible. The proprietor was asked it he was aware of the insture of the occa-sion for which the hall had been rented. He replied in the negative. "Would you have rented it had you known the use it was to be put to?" "No," was the reply, "I want no An-archists in my place."

Captain Black said he would make an address at the funeral to-mcrrow. Whatev r speaking is to be done will be done at the graves. The disposition is to select only conservative men as speakers, those who will confine their words to the praise and beauty of those men's lives, and an explanation of their principles. No one will be selected to drive the people frantic. It was definitely decided, this afternoon, that the remains of August Spies should not be laid in state in Aurora Tarm Hall to-morrow. State Represo, when the Anaronists made their appearance, they simply destroyed their tickets of admission, for which they had paid 25 cents each, and went away. The room was heavily draped in black. Big black rugs covered the floor and in the centre of the room five black coffins, arranged short the room, were draped. arranged about the room, were draped in chains. The Anarchists snarled their displeasure at the presence of the po-lice and departed. They went to dus-tus Schwab's place, where they passed the night, drinking and cursing the police.

For Parts Unknown.

NEW YORK, November 12.-George Carpenter, president and treasurer of the Brookside Knitting Company and Washburn Salicylic Manufacturing Company, and who was connected with various other companies, is reported to have left for parts unknown, leaving many debts unpaid. His brother, Charles Carpenter, who was connected with him in several other concerns, was also reported keeping away. The reason for departure, it is said, is the collapse of some of the schemes they were interested in. It is also reported that George has forged bills of lading, or warehouse receipts, and papers have been taken out for his arrest if he can be found. The stories as to the extent of the alleged fraudulent transactions vary between $30,000 and $40,000. vary between $30,000 and $40,000.

An Appeal to Wealthy Irishmon.

LINCOLN, Neb., November 12,-John Fitzgerald, president of the Irish National League of America, has issued a tional League of America, has issued a special call, supplementary to that recently issued by Treasurar O'Reilly, of Detroit. President Bitagerald's call is addlessed to the wealthy class of the frish race in America, for a glorions effort in aid of the Irish cause. In this call Mr. Fitagerald says: "If it were England that cried alogui for the assistance of her exiled sons, within thirty days, 1,000 Englishmen could be found in America who would not hesitate to subscribe $1,000 each. We have 5,000 Irishmen and Irish-Americans who could do the same, and Americans who could do the same, and Ireland, on her knees and in chains, begs for that financial aid, without which she must die."

President Fitzgerald makes a passion ate appeal for the necessary aid, and referring to the roll of honor mentioned by Dr. O'Reilly in his call, says: "Must this roll contain but the names of the this four contains out the docks brawn-workers, who, for years, have sime given of their scanty time and means, all that has been asked for by Irelandin the loss and was salet." He adds: hale and works at his desk for some time before dinner.
